

Three of the very best reasons for a hug

RUSSELL EMMERSON

SUCCESS obviously begets success, with Adelaide insurance broker Terri Scheer winning three awards at yesterday's South Australia Telstra Business Women's Awards.

Ms Scheer developed landlord insurance for residential investors 16 years ago and started her own business - Terry Scheer Insurance Brokers - five years ago. The company now turns over $22 million annually in its operations throughout Australia and New Zealand.

Ms Scheer won the Business Woman of the Year award after also winning the Business Owner award and the Business Innovation award.

Biotech company BresaGen's chief operating officer, Dr Meera Verma, was awarded the Private and Corporate Sector Award for driving the company's significant restructure.

Announced at yesterday afternoon's ceremony at the Hilton, the other winners were:

BHP Billiton in-house legal counsel Melissa Holzberger (Young Business Women's Award).

ABERFOYLE Park High School principal Wendy Teasedale-Smith (Community and Government Award).

WELL DONE, MUM: Terri Scheer is congratulated by daughter Katie yesterday. Picture: SARAH REED